

ON THE FRONT LINE OF VEHICLE CONVERSION

VCS came to MPM looking for a supplier that was flexible, reliable and had the skill to produce quality internal panels to be incorporated in the manufacture of Ambulances.

SUPPLIER:
MPM Bradford

CLIENT:
Vehicle Conversion Specialists

PROJECT:
Pattern work, moulds and production of internal ambulance parts

RESULTS:
Fibreglass partner to assist and improve build programme

“We have no issues recommending MPM, their facility, and their highly professional team that go above and beyond to satisfy our needs. The product and service we receive is of first class quality and any problems that do crop up are dealt with immediately”

Wayne Sullivan
Commercial Director / VCS

VCS (Vehicle Conversion Specialists) design and manufacture all types of vehicles, from front line accident and emergency vehicles to small minibus conversions, with clients ranging from St John's Ambulance Service to clients in the Police and Defence markets.

Since its inception in 2010, VCS has enjoyed a rapid period of growth, being one of the most technically capable and advanced specialist converters in Europe, with the ability to develop bespoke solutions to a variety of engineering problems. With 23 highly skilled employees, VCS constantly strive for innovative and effective design and engineering solutions, ensuring customers' requirements are achieved while adhering to safety regulations.

CS approached MPM after several referrals from other companies within their industry. MPM have over 100 years of distilled knowledge in the composite industry. This, together with previous experience in manufacturing composite parts for emergency vehicles, meant they knew that they could deliver a product on time, to a high quality, at a competitive price, all while maintaining an outstanding level of service.

“MPM were recommended to us by a few other companies within the industry, and once we had visited the team and their ever expanding facility at MPM, we knew they had the capability to manufacture the specific components we needed at a competitive price.

A team with a great 'can do' attitude

Mutual client - supplier respect

Proactive, professional advice

“If MPM receive customer complaints, they have a structured system to ensure they are resolved efficiently and with immediate effect.

When VCS needed an issue resolving MPM personally visited their site to resolve the issue immediately. They offer an outstanding level of service to all their customers, and ensure customers understand that a team member is just a phone call away.”

